

The Danger of Lies.

Sometimes, people invent falsehoods and don't tell anyone that it's not true. Time passes, and the next generations, especially the most fanatic among them, start believing that those falsehoods are true. The difference between truth and falsehoods lies in the fact that truth cannot harm. But when we believe in lies, what we believe in happens, that is, distortion, which is always ugly and dangerous. You will find confirmation of my words in the attached photo below. Stay healthy!
